Legal expenses insurance cover

In the event of a shotgun certificate being revoked or not renewed for Full members (exc colts)

There have been some concerns over firearms licencing decision making, resulting in revocation of or refusal to renew shotgun certificates. Some police forces would rather leave it to the courts to decide but it is expensive for certificate holders to challenge this decision. By providing enhanced cover we can support members who have been treated unreasonably and help them continue to enjoy their sport.

Since its introduction in April 2014, the CPSA has supported a number of claims on behalf of members. The authorities appear to be tightening up on certification and it could be something as trivial as an argument with a neighbour that sparks interest in your suitability to own a gun.

Being insured for this type of claim will also help us to stand together to defend the legal rights of responsible shotgun owners without the worry of the potential costs for the individual.

What is the Clay Pigeon Shooting Association?

Becoming a member of the CPSA will make you part of an inspiring and energetic community of shooters. With 24 000 members, it is their needs that makes the CPSA what it is, a team of people who support shooters, and protect and develop the sport of clay pigeon shooting.

We are a not for profit organisation promoting the highest standards in every aspect of our sport from safety to coaching. We share the passion our members have and promote and enhance the sport for everyone's benefit. Members of the CPSA range from 4 to 94 with a wide mix of reasons for being part of the organisation, from enjoying a few shoots a year with friends to striving for excellence and representing England and Great Britain. Wherever you fit, recreation or competition, we are here for you.

We have two different categories of membership:

Full and Clubman. Our Full membership provides enhanced value: including superior insurance cover, member benefit discounts, a chance to shoot registered shoots and gain a shooting classification. The Clubman is a lighter membership, offering comprehensive insurance cover for your shooting and some of the benefits of competition membership such as the protection and support CPSA offers to shooting as a sport and our highly regarded Pull! magazine.
